Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

Many people use pay-as-you-go wireless service because they are not high volume callers. The service is mainly used for emergencies and keeping the family apprised of changes in plans. A flat fee for everyone who makes a long distance phone call is an unfair method of assessing taxes. Any tax should be applied according to use of the service being provided not an across the board flat tax regardless of use. This type of tax gives a break to the high end user and penalizes the infrequent user to the point their tax burden is a higher percentage rate for the service provided. A flat fee proposal for the Universal Service Fund tax is an unfair method of assessing taxes.

I use my wireless phone for safety, security and convenience. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair!

Sincerely,

Stephanie Raymond
